[Julie Choueiki, Program Manager, CTO Director of Education, Washington D.C., USA]

My name is Julie Choueiki, and I serve as the program manager for the division of Colorectal and Pelvic Reconstruction, at Children's National Hospital in Washington DC. Our goal in helping every child needs a partner. We can't do it alone with Colorectal Team Overseas, and we can't do it alone at Children's National Hospital. We need a partnership to be able to reach every child, everywhere in the world. If someone's interested in joining one of our mission trips, and they reach out to us through the website, it's my job to work with them, to get them prepared so that they can join our team and teach in a foreign country. Anyone can logon to the website, anyone can read about us, anyone can enquire from anywhere in the world about how they can become involved, how our team can help them, or how they can donate to our team to help others.
